COMMON ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH HAZARD
MOSQUITOES
 Mosquitoes carry a number of diseases like Malaria, Dengue Fever, Encephalitis and West Nile Fever. Malaria bearing mosquitoes usually roam from dusk to dawn, while those carrying Dengue fever roam during the day.

PREVENTION
 Prevent the development of breeding places:
 Remove stagnant water that accumulates for long periods of time. If disease carrying mosquitoes are found in an area you are required to wear insect repellent or suitable clothing such as long sleeves and long pants. Other measures such as fogging a wider area during the night are also recommended.
