Mile Rock.
For many years, the shopping complex stood in "ruins," which resulted in residents as well as Member of Parliament for West Grand Bahama and Bimini, Obie H. Wilchcombe petitioning Central Government to have the site cleaned and redeveloped into a viable business complex.
Diligently working to ensure Central Government executes the necessary procedures to move forth with the site's redevelopment, Wilchcombe announced, four months ago, that due to a public-private partnership and ground broken for the construction of the new West Grand Bahama Government Complex.
At that time, Wilchcombe would be named in honor of the late Moses A. Hall, whom he lauded as "an extraordinary member of Parliament during his heyday, who also resided in the West Grand Bahama community."

Grand Bahama Government Complex is completed, Darville said, a new paradigm shift would take shape in the Western District thus providing new employment and business opportunities to thousands of residents and to boost the economic standings of the local community.
Darville released specific details of the West Grand Bahama Government Complex with the assistance of Ministry of Works and Urban Development Officer, Toni Hudson-Bannister, who stated, "Top Notch Builders headed by Mark Robinson are executing works (West Grand Bahama Government Complex) and to-date the site works and foundation is complete, and the reinforced concrete underways and construction is well underway.

"The Ministry of Works and Urban Development executes weekly inspections, as well as officers of the department meet here every Wednesday for site meeting and updates."

The 11th Annual 'Building Youth is Better than Mending Boys' Conference heads west this year, the theme 'It Takes A Village.'
The conference, started by the founders of the Falcons Boys' Club (FBC), was created to help lead young men of the community in a positive direction.

Officers, members and the various partners joined founder pastor Darrin Rolle at the Gerald Bartlett Police Headquarters on Wednesday, to announce

NO TEXT IS WORTH YOUR LIFE

The popularity of mobile devices has had some unintended and sometimes deadly consequences. An alarming number of traffic accidents on Grand Bahama are linked to distracted driving, including use of mobile devices while driving, resulting in injury and loss of life.
