

American Ordnance

We do what we say.®

American Ordnance LLC (AO), a supplier of large and medium caliber ammunition to the USA and the world, is seeking a Quality Engineer for the Iowa Army Ammunition Plant. The position will perform basic engineering duties encompassing the preparation of studies, drafts, specifications and cost and statistical control data covering production, fabrication and testing on segments of projects. This position will focus primarily on the quality aspect of the business unit performance.

Successful candidates must have prior experience designing and coordinating the fabrication and/or assembly of manufacturing equipment; demonstrated commitment to safety; experience with PLC's and controls; prior experience writing technical procedures and exercising strong judgment in analyzing, appraising, evaluating and solving problems of a technical nature; proven experience implementing lean manufacturing concepts; superb interpersonal skills and experience using the computer as a management tool. Coordinates engineering studies, designs or plans with other plant departments to implement an assigned mission. A BS Degree in Engineering or Scientific field and five years related experience are required. Salary range $45,000 - $52,000. Must be capable of securing a Secret Clearance. Interested individuals who meet the above criteria should apply on-line at: WWW.DayZim.com/CareerOpportunities

Post Offer Pre-employment Drug Tests and Randoms after Hire
American Ordnance is an Equal Opportunity Employer M/F/D/V