The Red River Valley Chorus knows how to entertain an audience!

Let the music begin! The Red River Valley Chorus with its fabulous new director, Melody Holmes, wants you to come and experience festive music of good cheer at Truth Tabernacle Church; Highway 75 (Exit 67); Denison, Texas. At 7:00 p.m. on Saturday, November 21, 2009 in the church sanctuary, "Holiday Harmony" will come to life! The chorus is planning a bit different style show this year. Come hear how each member tells you, "I've Got the Music in Me!" Also, various guest performers will be singing and entertaining the audience. There will still be some of your favorite holiday songs, too.

Thus the tone is set for a musical extravaganza provided by the Red River Valley Chorus, complete with special guests such as vocalist Anna Clarkson of Sherman and instrumental vocalist Brian Ladd of Colbert, Oklahoma. More music will be provided by the RRVC Secret Blend and Whimsey Quartets and their good friends, the local men's barbershop group, the Texoma Chordrings of Sherman. The men have their quartets, Out of Shape Notes and TQ performing as well. Four young girls called the Converse Quartet are also sure to delight all who attend.

Another group of guests who will be singing several songs with the Red River Valley Chorus are the Holiday Stars. For six weeks, women from the Texoma area have been rehearsing with the chorus and learning the many facets of barbershop music. After this training, the Stars join the chorus for a full on-stage performance experience. The Stars are appreciated and many become members after this enjoyable opportunity. The Stars are appreciated and welcome to become members, along with other women from the North Texas and Southern Oklahoma area who enjoy singing.

The Red River Valley will add a glow of nostalgia for all ages at their show. The chorus wants to provide a heartwarming, wholesome, family listening experience for the Texoma community. And to make it even better, this performance is open to the public. RRVC only asks for your generous donations. You are also welcome to bid on the terrific Silent Auction items and a beautiful handmade quilt while at the show.

Give yourself and your family the gift of timeless music. On Saturday, November 21 at Truth Tabernacle Church at 7:00 p.m., there will be a wealth of music and talent in one place for your evening's entertainment. The Red River Valley Chorus' "Holiday Harmony" is clearly the musical show of the season! The chorus is planning a professional performance leaving everyone with a memorable night of merriment and good cheer. For membership information and anything else you'd like to know about the chorus, go to RedRiverValleyChorus.com. Also, feel free to call them at 903-957-SING. The chorus' email is: RedRiverValleyChorus@yahoo.com.

I'm James Green and I build houses. I have two beautiful homes ready for your family with immediate closing and owner financing. Good news: the U.S. Senate is close to an agreement to extend the current $8,000 first-time homebuyer tax credit program to April, 2010, and the new agreement would also expand the tax credit (up to $6,500) for current homeowners who want to move into a new home. There's no reason to delay -- if the program extension doesn't materialize, Village Green will absorb the loss and you will win either way.
